Dutch native Job van der Wal grew up in a warm Christian family. After finding out that becoming a livestock farmer was not really possible, he began studying social pedagogy. As a result, he worked in a prison and at a deaf institute (BE), among other places.

In 2008, Job graduated (USA) in classical mime and founded his own company (NL) Mighty Impulse Movement. Besides mime, he is also a dancer and regularly acts in front of the camera.

He specialises in "speaking" with his body; gives training, workshops and performances using various performing arts.

Job has performed and toured in the USA, UK, South Africa and various countries in Europe. He works a lot as a soloist but also together with colleagues in various countries. Like no other, Job can teach you to become more aware of the influence your body language has on yourself and your surroundings.

The various dance styles he has studied make Job versatile and his strength lies in the combination of the different styles.

His teachable dance and movement styles include: classic mime, worship dance, body language (stage presents), combination of modern & classic dance, drama, improvisation. A selection of which will be taught at the weekend conference.
